Because they have things that no one else has, because they can afford it, because frankly I am quite rich to do what the fuck I want, and you are pretty poor not to ask me stupid questions. Now, I mean he's a friend. Namaste.à € à € œVin Weston in Franklin Clinton in I Fought The Law ... Devin Weston is a character from the Grand Theft Auto series, which appears as a central character and the main antagonist of Grand Theft Auto V. It is an influential billionaire and a business trainee operating in San Andreas and manages different companies. History Background Weston is an American billionaire, venture capitalist and investor who owns actions in various large companies, from hotel chains like Banner Hotel & Spa to alcohol producers like Patriot Beer and Nogo Vodka; But above all, it is an important shareholder of Merryweather Security, a private military society that acts as the muscle of its different corporate and criminal interests. It is also proven to have influence within the police, as evidenced by his relationship with the Fib Agent Steve Haines and his ability to procure a police supply for his lawyer and the second in command, Molly Schultz . The events of GTA V Michael and Trevor meet for the first time in Weston after having a meeting with him friend and cohort, Steve Haines, during the Mission of The Book, where he was given permission to torture Ferdinand Kerimov. However, they are not adequately introduced until they have robbed an armored truck for him to want Haines. Weston offers trio special business opportunities: he offers Michael the possibility of making a film with his idol, the producer of Vinewood Solomon Richards, in order to increase the value of the studio of Richards and offers trevor and Franklin Clinton a contract To steal five luxury cars for him so you can sell them to senior Chinese government officials. Trevor and Franklin acquire the five cars, with the help of Lamar Davis, and transport them to the starting point of Weston, but Weston leans on their payment, promising to "invest it" for them on its own company. At the same time, he tries to close the production of Michael's film and Solomon so you can claim a paid insurance since the study has reached its probable point value. Since the insurance policy requires the incapacity to complete the film, he has her lawyer of her, Molly Schultz, take the printing of the film with her and keep him hidden until Weston sees suitable to destroy it. After discovering this, Michael runs at the airport to recover Molly's fingerprints, but when she sees him coming, she becomes terrified and try to escape, just to accidentally end up being killed when she is sucked in the turbines of a plane. Infuriated by Molly's death, Weston sends a Merryweather soldiers' platoon at Michael's home in an attempt to kill his wife and daughter. Alertato of this from Weston's Gloating at the premiere for Meltdown, Michael and son of him, Jimmy, run at home and get only in time to save Amanda and Tracey. He ended all he betrayed those he ever met. He involved you with the federal government, and has messed up several business initiatives. He has to go. And do you know something? I would like to say that this is not personal, but it is personal .à € à € œWeston ordering Franklin to kill Michael. After his failure to kill Michael's family, Weston visit Franklin and asks him to kill Michael, but Franklin tries to refuse himself, telling him that Agent Haines told him to kill Trevor. It is at this point that Franklin can If you kill Michael at Weston's request, kill Trevor at Haines' request, or save them and collaborate with them both to kill all their enemies. Franklin contacts Lester and asks him for help to figure out what to do. Lester initiallykill both Trevor and Michael, but eventually comes with a better way to solve the problem. It attracts allies of Haines' FIB and Weston's private battalion of Merryweather to a foundry where the three protagonists are engaged and kill them all, stripping both Haines and Weston of their brute force. Later, Lester acquires the positions of all enemies of the protagonists. Weston is kidnapped by Trevor after the protagonists killed Haines, Wei Cheng and Stretch. While Trevor assaults his villa, Weston tries to hide in a box, but is found by Trevor and put out of use. Trevor takes Weston to the trunk of his car and takes him to the edge of a cliff in Blaine County, where he meets Michael and Franklin. After glorifying their victory to a terrified Weston, the three protagonists push the machine from the edge of the cliff. The car crashes repeatedly in several rocks along the road, until it finally hits the shallow waters and explodes, killing Weston. Note: The GTA Online: The Diamond Casino & Resort DLC mission "Casino - Strong Arm Tactics" confirms that this is not the canon ending the plot. If Franklin chooses to follow Haines' request, he kills Trevor with Michael's help. Later, Franklin called Haines to inform him that he did as required and asked him to convince Weston not to follow him for saving Michael. Haines tells Franklin that he's gonna take care of Weston, because Merryweather lost his license to operate in the state, but he also tells him not to contact him again. Note: The GTA Online: The Diamond Casino & Resort DLC mission "Casino - Strong Arm Tactics" confirms that this is not the canon ending the plot. If Franklin chooses to follow Weston's request, Franklin will chase and kill Michael. After the execution, Franklin will call Weston and inform him, asking him to make sure that Steve Haines will not follow him for refusing to kill Trevor, to whom Weston informs Franklin that he has already contacted Haines' superiors and has ensured that he would return. Franklin also asks if Weston has more jobs for him, but the billionaire says sardonally to Franklin who did his last job for him, and that he is no longer useful to him. Before leaving, he recommends Franklin to go to business school, because the clown school didn't work so well." A news article will appear shortly: Liberty Tree Newspaper "Billionaire investor and life style guru Devin Weston has disappeared. The police suspect did the trick, but no body was recovered. Mr. Weston, 51, who rose to fame in the technological bubble and subsequently made more money in a number of other industries, including entertainment, Internet, currency trading and luxury travel, recently caused controversy when he heavily invested in Merryweather, the well-known and discredited private security company managed by Don Percival. The police responded to fire sounds at Mr. Weston's villas on the hills above Chumash, but despite the signs of violence and several dead security guards, Mr. Weston himself was not found, dead or alive. One of Mr. Weston's luxury car collections was missing." Don Percival e-mail Michael and Trevor will thank them for killing Devin, as he was able to buy Weston's shares for a reduced price. However, you warn them that you can't contact him anymore. Personality "Number one is outsourcing. You paid a private company to do your dirty work for you. Then you paid that company because you thought you were big enough and had enough not to have to play according to the rules." — Michael describing Weston. Weston is considerably pompous, selfish, narcissistic, arrogant, charismatic, temperament, and above the top. He constantly likes to rememberthat is much richer than them, and that his wealth allows him to do as he wants; also boasts of his sexual achievements, both on his website and on his lifeinvader lifeinvaderAlong with this, it has a rather sadistic and cynical sense of humor, joking around and making raw jokes at the expense of others. All the protagonists at some point or another agree that Weston can be described as a jerk: surpass, prone to show and irritation of the habit of pretending to be their friend, despite the absolute contempt of him for them . It is very obvious that it was a long time since he had all that he wanted to give him, to the point that he doesn't even occur to him that someone would really get up to him, and when they do it he replies with temperate whims. This can be seen in the final of Deathwish, when Weston starts screaming and crying "I never lose" after he fails to corrupt Trevor to spread his life. However, it is implicit from the "Deathwish" which ends that while Weston can have many bonds, it is not very well loved, even hated, at least by most of his associates and acquaintances, since none of the protagonists never face repercussions for their role evident in his death. The death of him, if not a convenience for the persons to whom he claimed connected, is not at least a negative impact on their life and businesses. The police and FIB lists it as "Missing" when his body is not found, and Merryweather CEO Don Percival E-mail Michael and Trevor thanking them for killing Weston as allowed him to buy Weston's quotas in the company a A reduced price, making it a lot of money in the process. From the aspect of living a healthy life and a clear and peaceful mentality by practicing yoga (even having his profile of Lifeinvader in a greeting pose Namaste), but actually use this image in an aggressive passive position, still looking towards the Low others. Molly also, the only person in the game that really loves Weston, is treated with contempt from him, with him that the label with disdain as "highly strung". However, the death of her makes weston angry, but only to the extent in which Michael "made a fool" of him. Weston, according to Trevor, "Fantasy himself a liberal" and therefore undertakes in different stereotyped activities "high class liberals", how to practice yoga and drink fantasy capuchins. However, it becomes clear during the game that these alleged liberal sensitivity are just a stragem to maintain a positive public image. When Lester discovers that Weston has 11% of Merryweather Security, he will comment as "good" is that a "pseudo-liberal" as Weston would be a shareholder in a private military society. However, Weston proclaims that he thinks like a libertarian, stating on him's website, "conservative vote, Live Liberal". Weston himself states that he is a Darwinist, an obvious opposed to him peaceful, positive and liberal image of him. Weston also has the habit of calling any of the protagonists of the moniker "slick", which he uses alternatively to pretend to be their friend or for their belittle, as the situation sees fit. This is probably a reference to the character of Michael Cerrito from the 1995 Heat film. Appearances Mission GTA V Gallery Meeting Trevor In The Fought The Law ... Planning to steal a Z-Type from Chad Mulligan. Z-Type successfully delivered to Devin Weston's Hangar. Solomon explains to Michael as Devin and Molly are about to ruin their film. By attending the first meltdown and, under the conviction that Michael killed Molly Schultz, he suggests Coyly that Michael's family is in trouble-in particular, who sent Merryweather's agents to face Michael's family. Devin goes to Franklin's home to tell him to make him's choice, much for Franklin's anger, since Devin had not yet paid to deliver the cars. Weston in the car's trunk of him during the third street. The trio pushing the Devin tornado. Devin's car explodes with him in Trivia Devin's favorite radio station is Los Santos Rock Radio, as if you see when the player enters his tornado in The Third Way. Weston has participants in Richards Majestic Productions, the land of Greece, the Los Santos Corkers Baseball Team, Team, Security, Die already franchising 4 movies, Banner Hotel & Spa, Dynasty & Real Estate, Vanilla Unicorn, Universal Uniform, pointed shoes, Al Dente of, Bourgeois Cognac, Nogo Vodka, Patriot beer, debonaire cigarettes, Orang-O-Tang , Mollis, Good Aids, San Andreas Lotto, Pharte Gas, Lando-Corp, Los Santos Department of nuclear energy, Pump & Run Gymnasium, Sports Lobon, Save-a-Cent, Skiver Construction Corporation and Squeeze One of Juice Bar. It has the his own website: www.bedevinweston.com. When you export a car to a dealer during the mission of cargo vehicles in Grand Theft Auto V, the vehicle could be sent to Devina's Mansion. According to its website, it has a net worth of $ 12 billion dollars and a long penis 9 inches. Given its nature boastful, one or both of these statements might be an exaggeration. Devin has much in common with Hertz Avon. Both are American billionaires who have very high opinions of themselves as well as the tendency to think of others as inferior or bad taste. In the mission I've broken the law ... , Devin Franklin Clinton scoffs at their first meeting as a result of background and appearance of the latter, saying: "I am rich enough to do whatever the fuck I want, and you are not poor enough to ask me any damn stupid questions. " Avon does not love the poor and care claims only the interests of the rich. During the installation of mission: saving Hard Drives, Lester says the "vision" of him in the future. Anticipating a world where armored vehicles, such as HVAC, will be "everywhere" once the white collar jobs dry up and the situation starts looking sad for the human society. Private security will represent the "law and order" new as it serves to protect the interests of "privileged" few. Lester counters by saying that the one else has the concept of basic income support. Avon says laughing out and say "that will at least keep the farmers happy." Both have the power / control over formidable private armies à à well equipped. Devin has Merryweather security. Even if he is not responsible for the PMC, Devin controls a significant proportion of the Merryweather actions, making him a major shareholder and part owner. Avon has the Mercenaries Clifford. He is also allied with Merryweather. Both are affiliated with the US government in some way. Devin is "friends" with the agent FIB Steve Haines, the secondary antagonist of Grand Theft Auto V. In Final B, Franklin kills Michael De Santa for Devin account but incurs the wrath of Haines for not killing Trevor Philips . Franklin Devin called to inform him of this and Devin Franklin says that he has already contacted the upper Haines and Haines assured that he would back off before telling Franklin that he is of no further use. Avon is associated with the IA until he betrays them, at the end of the mission The Bogdan problem. Both show highly sociopathic tendencies. In Meltdown mission, Devin seeks revenge against Michael De Santa, and sends Merryweather in a Michael to kill his family home home invasion. In this way, Devin violates and ignores the laws and rules of society by employing ruthless mercenaries for violation of private property and commit murder against unarmed civilians clearly. In the mission The Doomsday Scenario, Avon, Clifford, and their private army to take on an abandoned nuclear missile base in Mount Chiliad that had been operating at the height of the Cold War. Avon then Clifford hack into the base so missile system that can start a nuclear war and kill virtually all human life on Earth with the ultimate goal to remake the world in the image of her. They are both cowards and both die in explosions. In Grand Theft Auto V Canon end, Devin is located at his house at Trevor Philips. Immediately after the start of shooting, he hides in a poolside trunk and orders his bodyguards to fight the Merryweather Trevor. After Trevor kills the entourage, he locates Devin and compels himThe trunk of a car before driving it until the margins of a cliff in the County of Blaine. There, Trevor, Michael and Franklin rejoin before proceeding to Gloat to deviate on their victory and his defeat. The three protagonists finally push the car over the cliff and crashed repeatedly into several rocks along the way until he finally explodes after hitting the shallow waters below. When the protagonist Online GTA addresses it, Avon tries to escape into a thruster. He runs to escape from Monte Chiled but he is prosecuted and, in desperation, he throws the last of him of him to the protagonist of Akulas and Poiana Attack Choppers before he is incinerated by a homing missile.
