

I'm human

The upscale surroundings of Rome's Spanish Steps boast an impressive array of dining options, ranging from cozy trattorias to Michelin-starred eateries. From Piazza di Spagna at the base to Piazza Trinita dei Monti at the top, there's something for every taste and budget. Whether it's a locally-favorite spot or a fancy restaurant with breathtaking views, our selection highlights the best places to eat around the Spanish Steps. For a special occasion, head to Imago, one of Rome's 23 Michelin-starred restaurants, situated on the rooftop of the Hassler Hotel. Enjoy fine dining and stunning vistas, paired with an extensive wine list. Chef Andrea Antonini's modern Italian creations blend diverse flavors and exotic ingredients, while Babingtons, founded in 1896, offers a unique and elegant experience. Pop into Babingtons for a full English breakfast or a snack, featuring delicious pastries and gourmet sandwiches. Tea enthusiasts can choose from Indian, Chinese, and Japanese blends, including the 'Roman Holiday,' scented black tea with vanilla and roses. Walking distance from Babingtons lies The Fontana della Barcaccia (Fontana della Barcaccia) in Piazza di Spagna, while The Keats - Shelley House Museum, located at the bottom of the steps, showcases the English poet's memorabilia. Address: Via Borgognona, 43-46 Phone: +39 06 6994 0836 Hours: Mon - Sun 10:00-23:00 For a light breakfast near the Spanish Steps, try Ginger Sapori e Salute's fresh salads and homemade soups, paired with uplifting fruit juices and vitamin-filled smoothies. Their menu features acai bowls and yogurt with fruit, perfect for a quick and healthy meal. Think our recommendations are great? Our Food Tours in Rome are even better! Take a look at our website to see our top-rated tours and activities, which fund our content. Given article text here The Spanish Steps area offers a variety of dining options, from pizza to fine dining. One affordable option is Pastificio Guerra, with fresh pasta priced at 4 euros, served on plastic plates that can be eaten in or out. For truffle lovers, Tartufi & Friends is a paradise, offering a superb culinary experience with truffles on all dishes. The restaurant, located between the Spanish Steps and Trevi Fountain, features menu highlights like ground steak with foie gras and caramelized onions. Another option is Il Margutta Veggie Food & Art, the oldest vegetarian restaurant in Rome, serving delicious plant-based meals since 1979. The buffet offers a tasty and affordable option for lunch, priced at 15 euros. For healthy and nourishing meals, Hosteria del Mercato is a popular choice, featuring a peaceful setting and a wide range of organic food and wine. Lastly, Il Gabriello offers authentic Roman cuisine, highly recommended by TripAdvisor and locals alike. Try Rick Steves' recommendations for bruschetta and pasta at this restaurant, which also serves tripe and codfish dishes. Alternatively, opt for the 6-course tasting menu if you have a big appetite. Address: Via Vittoria, 51 Phone: +39 06 6994 0810 Hours: Mon-Sun 19:00-23:00 For a sweet treat, head to Pompi's, Rome's most popular tiramisu vendor. They offer a variety of flavors and non-coffee options. Address: Via della Croce, 82 Phone: +39 06 2430 4431 Hours: Mon-Sun 11:00-21:30 Sushi lovers will enjoy Zuma restaurant on the rooftop of the Fendi palace. Try their shrimp tempura, robata grill, or Chilean sea bass, and don't miss the mouth-watering cocktails. Address: Via della Fontanella di Borghese, 48 Phone: +39 06 9926 6622 Hours: Mon-Sun 12:00-15:00, 20:00-23:00 Ad Hoc is a romantic restaurant with traditional Roman food and a cozy atmosphere. Try their ravioli or pasta carbonara, and don't miss the gluten-free, vegan, and vegetarian options. Address: (not provided) For a unique dining experience, take a picnic to the Villa Borghese Gardens and enjoy it on the Pincio Terrace. Find fresh produce at a local market to make your meal even more special.

Places to eat near spanish steps. Spanish steps rome. Spanish food in this area. Spanish food places to eat near me. Spanish foods near me. Where to eat near spanish steps rome. Best places to eat near spanish steps. Near spanish restaurant.