Comparative and superlative degree worksheets pdf

Index of contents Comparative and Superlative Worksheets as Lesson Plans Teaching these comparatives and superlatives worksheets can be tons of fun. This is because there are always new and innovative ways to compare things for size, height, and any type of adjective. Examples of comparative adjectives are 'bigger than', 'taller than' and 'more beautiful than'. We use comparative adjectives when we directly compare one object versus another object. And we use superlative adjectives when we compare a noun to one or many. For example, world records are the largest, or tallest, or most beautiful of something making them superlatives. Now that you have an understanding of these types of adjectives, let's dig a bit deeper into these 5 comparative and superlative worksheets. They are 100% free for teachers and here they are from best to worst. 1 Animal, Science and World Superlatives Quiz This superlatives quiz challenges students knowledge and skill for animals, world, and science superlatives. Unlike your typical quiz where you answer questions, students have to create superlative questions. For example, "World Superlatives" for 1008 is Mount Everest. When students see Mount Everest, they have to think of a question that uses a superlative to uniquely describe it. In this case, the correct question is "What is the tallest mountain in the world?" First, create teams of 3 or 4 students. Next, pick a category and a money amount. If you scroll further below this worksheet, there are examples of questions and answers. The first team that raises their hands can create a question. If they create a question correctly, they earn that amount of money. But if they get it wrong, they lose that amount of money. Finally, the team with the most money at the end wins the game. Superlatives Quiz 2 Comparative Adjectives In this comparative adjectives worksheet, students write sentences for each image. In addition, they have to use the words in each image to create sentences. Comparative adjectives contrast differences (bigger, faster, higher, etc) between two or several people, places, or things. For example, it usually follows this pattern of the sentence: Noun (subject) + verb + comparative adjective + than + noun (object) Comparative Adjectives 3 Superlative Adjectives Crossword Puzzle When you describe the most of something, you are using superlative adjectives. For example, the cheetah is the fastest mammal in the animal kingdom. The word "fastest" is the largest degree of speed so this makes it a superlative adjective. In this superlative adjectives worksheet, we practice this type of adjective. In addition, we explore the world and what is the coldest, driest, and closest for geography. First, print off the superlative adjectives worksheet. Next, have students fill in the blanks and write their answers in the crossword puzzle. Finally, check their understanding by asking if they know of any other superlative adjectives. Superlative Adjectives Crossword 4 Comparatives Short Story: Brother Rivalry This comparatives adjectives story is about brother rivalry. It's about two boys that love to compete with each other. One boy is older, taller and no matter how hard his brother tries, he's always the best. Until they eat their dinner... Tags: cbse class 5 english worksheets A comparative adjective is used to compare two nouns denoting a higher or lower degree of quality with respect to one another. For example, Aharsi is stronger than Advik. In this sentence strength of Aharsi and Advik are compared and it is informed that Aharsi has more strength. Here, the adjective stronger is showing the comparative form of the adjective strong. The suffix "-er" is often added at the end of an adjective to make it a comparative adjective. What is a Superlative Adjective? A superlative adjective denotes the extreme form of quality and is used while comparing three or more nouns. The suffix "-est" is often added at the end of an adjective to convert into a superlative adjective. For example, Swarnali is the strongest in the group. In this sentence, the adjective form "strongest" is used to inform the extreme quality in a group. So here strongest is the superlative form and is made by adding (suffixed) -est to the adjective strong. Rules for changing into comparative and superlative form Rule 1: As mentioned above adding the suffix "-er" and "-est" to the adjective is the most common rule to form a comparative and superlative degree of adjectives. Rule 2: When the word ends with "y", Change the "y" to "i" and then add "-er" or "-est" to form comparative and superlative respectively. For example, Easy ---Easier---Easiest Rule 3: When the word ends with a single consonant, preceded by a single vowel, double the last consonant before adding "-er" or "-est". For example, Big---Bigger---Biggest, Here "g" is doubled prior to adding "-er" or "-est" to convert it into comparative and superlative form respectively. Rule 4: When the words have two syllables (ending with "-ful", "-less", "-ing", "-ed", "-ous", etc). Use the word more/most or less/least before the adjective to convert it into comparative or superlative form. For example, Beautiful---More Beautiful---Most Beautiful. In this example more or most is added to convert comparative and superlative respectively. Rule 5: When the word ends with "e", Remove one "e" while adding "-er" or "-est". For example, Wise---Wiser---Wiseest. Here, only single "e" is used dropping the other one. Rule 6: There are a few irregular adjectives that are not formed using any rule. So better to memorize those. The following table provides a few irregular comparative and superlative adjective examples to help you memorize.
