One, long-lasting durable apron feeder feed the screen direct power supply from the hopper. The Apron feeder is made of hardened steel without spaces for debris and fine material to enter operating areas and build. The apron feeder lasts more belts, can handle larger material and take more impact. Keestrack remote control operator control over the screen as if it were in front of the control panel. Able to change the settings, adjust the corners and monitor the machine from inside the cabin. It also has a button Emergency stop for greater safety. Steel hydraulic lines are routed throughout the machine. Steel hydraulic lines are stronger, safer and easier and easier to repair in case of breakage. Steel lines also have a better cooling effect on oil, increasing the duration of the oil. The K4 will produce the number of products needed ina the specifications requested. The scalping two-storey screen is equipped, with two wing conveyors to provide a fraction of two or three ways.
